

Christopher Beshara is a student at the University of Sydney, Australia, and will graduate with a BA and LLB in 2011. In 2009, he will undertake an honors year in modern history. Christopher hopes to pursue a career in criminal or international law.

Alaina Brandhurst graduated from the University of Miami in May 2008 with a BS in industrial engineering and a minor in English. She plans to attend law school to pursue a JD in international law.

Josh Chancey will graduate from Furman University in May 2009 with a double major in English and communications studies. He plans to teach English in Spain and possibly pursue a graduate degree in rhetoric.

Amanda Clark will graduate in May 2009 from the University of Missouri–Kansas City with a BA in English and a minor in history. She plans to pursue graduate work in history and museum studies.

Margaret-Elliotte (M.E.) Czentnar will graduate from Furman University in May 2009 with a BA in communication studies, Latin American studies, and black cultures in the Americas. She plans to pursue further education in the area of social justice.

Katie Faber is a student at Calvin College. She plans to major in biotechnology and minor in writing.

Lauren Farrar will graduate from Furman University in 2009 with a BA in communication studies and history.

Sophie Good is a student at Furman University. She is majoring in communication studies and hopes to pursue a career in journalism or public relations.

Jennifer Hamm graduated from the University of Winnipeg in May 2008 with a BA in rhetoric and communications. She plans to pursue a career in publishing.

Rebekah Hoy will graduate magna cum laude from the Ohio State University–Mansfield in March 2009 with a BA in English. She will then begin work on her MA in English at Youngstown State University, where she will serve as a graduate assistant for first-year composition classes.

Arlen Kasdorf graduated from the University of Winnipeg in 2008 with a BA in rhetoric and communications.

Brenna Leath graduated summa cum laude with departmental honors from North Carolina State University in December 2008 with a BA in language, writing, and rhetoric and a minor in film studies. Brenna plans to attend graduate school and pursue a degree in modern British and American critical theory.

Jessica Lundgren graduated from Pennsylvania State University–University Park in 2008 with a BA in English and a BS in life science. She is currently pursuing an MD at Pennsylvania State College of Medicine.

Maggie MacAulay graduated from the University of Winnipeg in June 2008 with a BA in rhetoric and communications. She is currently taking graduate courses at Carleton University in Ottawa, Ontario, and plans to pursue a degree in communications.

Kendra Magnusson graduated from the University of Winnipeg in June 2008 with a BA in rhetoric and communications and is in the process of submitting graduate school applications. She is currently working as a research assistant and teaching assistant at the University of Winnipeg.

Lucy Marrero, a former technical writer, graduated from the University of Illinois–Springfield in 2008 with a BA in English. Parlaying her interests in storytelling and agency from literary analysis into psychology, Lucy is currently exploring narrative therapy and community psychology as modalities for psychological and sociopolitical liberation and empowerment in her graduate studies in clinical psychology at Antioch University, Southern California.

Fernando Erubey Mejia Ledesma will graduate from Boise State University with a BA in political science and a minor in Latin American and Latino/a studies. Fernando plans to pursue ethnic studies at the graduate level.

Cameron Mozafari is a student at the University of Maryland–Baltimore County currently attempting two BAs—one in English communications and one in technology and philosophy—a minor in Chinese, and a certificate in intercultural communications. Cameron plans to pursue his studies of rhetorical theory and communication at the graduate level.

Alyssa Mulliger will graduate from Furman University in 2009 with a BA in English and communication studies. She plans to attend graduate school to pursue a degree in journalism.

Andrew Noel is pursuing a BA/MA in American studies with a minor in cultural theory. After graduation in 2010, he plans to continue his graduate studies, ultimately seeking a doctoral degree in either cultural studies or American studies.

Claire Elizabeth O’Leary graduated from the University of Wisconsin–Madison in May 2008 with a double major in Spanish and molecular biology. She hopes to go on to graduate studies in the area of cellular and molecular biology.

Maria Post is a student at Calvin College. She is majoring in English and Spanish with a sociology minor.

Jeff Reger will graduate from Georgetown University in 2010 with a BS in foreign service and proficiency in Arabic.

Christopher Schiffmann intends to graduate in 2010 at the University of Winnipeg with a BA in rhetoric and communications. Currently a support worker for adults with developmental disabilities, he hopes to shift into advertising after graduation.

Anita Varma graduated from Vassar College in 2008 with a BA and departmental honors in media studies. She is currently an advertising associate at Google in Ann Arbor, Michigan.